Future-proof your HR

CIMA Sri Lanka Division and IPM Sri Lanka are privileged to invite, and share the thoughts of Professor Dave Ulrich - the most influential person in HR, with HR and People Managers on the 24th of October 2008, in Colombo.

Professor Ulrich has won global recognition and has won many awards including:

- 2006& 2007: Listed as the most influential person in HR by HR Magazine for two consecutive years
- 2007: Awarded the Lifetime Achievement in Workplace Learning and Performance by the American Society for Training and Development.
- 2007: Awarded Honorary Doctorate from University of Abertay Dundee in Scotland for outstanding achievements in business strategy and research.
- 2005: Selected by the Fast Company as one of the 10 most innovative and creative leaders.
- 2004: Ranked as No. 2 among management thinkers by Executive Excellence in 2004.
- 2001: Ranked by Business Week as No. 1 management educator and guru ahead of Peter Drucker, John Kotter, Tom Peters and Michael Porter
- 2000: Listed in Forbes as one of the "world's top five" business coaches.

In this session, Professor Dave Ulrich will share his thoughts

- as to how HR professionals can meet future challenges in the perspective of what should be delivered, and how they define and deliver value to their organisations, and their key customers
- how business trends have made HR issues central to business success
- identify specifically how HR professionals should manage to be successful
- discuss the ability to transform HR through innovations in HR structure, practices, and people
- and focus on the future of HR for both HR professionals who work in HR, as well as line managers who use HR tools for their success.

Book your place today for this unique, lifetime opportunity for all management professionals in this country.

Registrations are open now, and please note that seating is limited.
